NEW CATALOGUE READY.

More Foreign Students This Year. — Smaller Total Registration.

The forty-first volume of the catalogue of the Institute has just been issued, and contains much valuable information regarding the number of students enrolled this year, and also regarding alumni statistics.

The total number of students enrolled is 1466, a decrease of 95 from the number enrolled last year. The decrease is caused principally by the smaller number of men in the freshman class, their being 215 regular students in 1909 as compared with 298 regular students enrolled with 1908 last year. The falling off in the first year class is due primarily to the additional requirements in the entrance examinations. Both French and German are required, and Physics was this year added to the list. The requirements in Algebra have been especially increased. The effect of these advances has been to retard preparation and to delay admission, while the proportion of failures has been increased.

The number of foreign students is larger than ever before. Sixty-two men have come to Technology from all parts of the world. The countries represented are Porto Rico, Brazil, Ireland, Cuba, India, Italy, Turkey, Denmark, Scotland, England, Canada, France, Chili, Uraguay, Egypt, Japan, Armenia, Mexico, Australia, Transvaal, China, Hawaii, Peru, Bermuda.

The number of young women attending Technology is twenty-two.

The instructing staff numbers 188, besides a large number of special lecturers and instructors. The instructing staff is composed as follows: 35 Professors, 15 Associate Professors, 24 Assistant Professors, 66 Instructors, and 48 Assistant Instructors.

There are now 3390 graduates, a large proportion of whom are engaged in technical work. 244 men graduated in the class of 1905, and this year's class is much larger.

JUNIOR PROM COMMITTEE.

Nominations for the Junior Prom Committee, signed by ten members of the 1907 class, will be received by the Election Committee at the Cage up to 4 o'clock Friday, Dec. 15. A meeting of the Election Committee will be held at 1 o'clock Monday, Dec. 11, in 11 Rogers.

ROUND TABLE ELECTIONS.

Six Freshmen were elected in the Round Table at the regular December meeting of the club. The men were J. J. Elbert, M. Flagg, F. B. Wood, A. K. Mitchell, A. G. Kellogg and M. J. Turnbull. They will all be duly notified of their election and will be initiated on Saturday evening, Dec. 16, 1905.

Jack London lectures on Socialism at Harvard to-morrow.

TELAUTOGRAPH.

Machine Which Will Fac-simile Handwriting at a Distance.

A meeting of the Electrical Engineering Society was held Thursday evening, Dec. 7, in Room 6, Lowell, about ninety members being present. The business meeting was called to order by President Wetterer at 7.40. After the transaction of the routine business the Society discussed the finance question and voted an assessment of one dollar. The following new men were admitted: E. F. Whitney, J. C. Keeling, B. C. Gupta, P. P. Greenwood, J. N. Baker, J. Evans and H. S. Percival. The president asked the opinion of the society as to the advisability of holding frequent meetings for informal talks by members on outside technical work, and from the enthusiasm displayed these should prove eminently successful. The excursion committee announced a visit to the Holtzer-Cabot motor department on Saturday, Dec. 16.

President Wetterer then introduced Mr. John L. Jones, VI., 1903, a former member of the society, who in a very interesting paper traced the development of long distance communication from the telegraph, through the old writing-telegraph and the telephone to the telautograph, that wonderful instrument capable of reproducing a fac-simile of a person's handwriting at any distance up to five hundred miles.

By means of an elaborate blackboard diagram and two equipments set up on the electric table, the actual working was clearly shown for both the transmitting and receiving instruments. Incidentally one realized the tremendous mechanical difficulties which had to be overcome by Dr. Gray and his assistants in perfecting the apparatus. Mr. Jones brought out the many advantages of the telautograph, its use by the government in naval and fortification work, by railroads, banks, brokers and department stores, and particularly the permanent irrefutable record in the sender's own handwriting of any message it transmits.

While refreshments were being served, those present kept the "wires hot" with all sorts of messages ranging from original poetry to vector diagrams. A message of thanks was sent through the instrument, signed by the members, and presented to Mr. Jones as a souvenir of the occasion.

PENNSYLVANIA CLUB DINNER.

There will be a dinner of the Pennsylvania Club at the Tech Union tomorrow evening at 6.30 P.M. All Pennsylvania men are invited.

1909 DINNER.

There will be a Freshmen Class dinner Monday, Dec. 18, at 6.30 P.M. at the Union. Tickets may be obtained of Godfrey and Wentworth.

FIRST KOMMERS.

Enjoyable Meeting Opens Season. — Fifty Present.

No special program of speeches or class "stunts" had been laid out for the first of this year's Kommers, held Saturday evening, but the fifty men present testified to its success as a sociable pleasant time.

The customary singing of Tech songs was joined in by all.

It was announced that the House Committee of one from each class would be named in a few days.

M. V. Coes '06 was the presiding officer.

TWO GAMES TONIGHT.

Another double header will be played in the new gymnasium on Garrison Street tonight at 8 P.M. The 'varsity Basketball Team will meet Tufts, and the second team will play English High School.

The result should be two fast, exciting contests. The Tufts team has been practicing longer than Tech, and therefore has some slight advantage. But the splendid showing of our team last Wednesday evening makes us confident that it can hold its own with any college team.

English High School has also put out a fast, scrappy team, and their game with the second team should be closely contested from start to finish.

Both the 'varsity and second teams will probably line-up as in Wednesday's games.

As this is the last game at home before the Christmas vacation, it is expected that the attendance will test the capacity of the gymnasium.

THE SOCIETY OF ARTS.

The 616th regular meeting of the Society of Arts will be held in 22 Walker, Thursday, at 8 P.M. Prof. Robert H. Richards will address the society on "The Treatment of the Black Sands of the Pacific Coast by the United States Geological Survey." The lecture will be illustrated by lantern slides.

MODERN LANGUAGE ASSOCIATION.

Prof. Frank Vogel presided as chairman of the Boston Group of the New England Modern Language Association at a meeting held Saturday at 1.45 in 23 Walker. Prof. J. Bigelow, Jr., presented a paper on "Modern Language Teaching." The other speakers were: Louis W. Arnold, Boston Latin School; Dr. Julius Goebel, Harvard; and Paul Grossman, Simmons College.

Judging from the result of the recent football conference held in New York, when a resolution declaring that the game should not be abolished, but should be reformed, was carried by a vote 15 to 8, intercollegiate football is not yet ready to die.

CHANCE TO LEARN TACTICS.

All students of the Institute of medium height, or over, who are interested in military affairs, are invited to join the Massachusetts Corps of Coast Artillery. An excellent opportunity is afforded to learn both artillery and infantry tactics, to become familiar with the latest forms of ordnance, and to practice gunnery with large and small arms at long and short range. Drills weekly except in August and September. Camp duty, one week in July at some fort near Boston, an instructive and pleasant summer outing. For full particulars inquire of J. H. Leavell '07.

The man who picks up paper on the Boston Common must be a poet. 'D y'ever notice his long, wavy hair, and haggard look?

You'll not get another chance after tonight to see a Tech team play basketball until after the Xmas holidays. The team has made a fine beginning, and it's up to you to cheer them along.

New Phase in Tech's Athletics.

Following the announcement that three past members of the basketball team are coaching this year's team, THE TECH has received a letter from Major F. H. Briggs, '81, Chairman of the Advisory Council on Athletics, in which it is pointed out that this is the first time in the history of Technology that former players on an athletic team have given their services as coaches. This fact is certainly the beginning of a new phase in Technology athletics, and, to use Major Brigg's words, "it would seem to show that the lines in which we are progressing are interesting not only to undergraduates but to graduates, and it would encourage . . . . . graduates to come out and do this work if they saw it was being recognized."

The idea of having graduate coaches is certainly worthy of deep consideration. Many of our teams have practiced without the aid and advice of an experienced man, and, although the results of games have usually been satisfactory, they might have been better. A graduate coach system would undoubtedly do much to put Technology in the front rank of athletic success. The result of success in athletics is an increase of interest in athletics, and the direct result of interest in athletics is a group of well-built, sturdy and capable young men.

The Boston University Sophomores and Freshmen had a gay time last week. On Wednesday evening the Sophomores broke into Jacob Sleeper Hall, carried off the scenery which the Freshmen were going to use in their play to be given Friday afternoon, and incidentally captured one of the leading actors of the play. The Freshmen got warm under the collar. Thursday morning the Sophs pounced upon a Freshman in front of the college buildings, and a free-for-all fight was soon in progress.

When the doors opened for the play on Friday afternoon there was a rush for the reserved seats, but the Freshmen won out. The Sophomores erected a stage at the left of the hall and proceeded to give a vaudeville show, which in noise and interest completely eclipsed the Freshman performance.

Bully for you, B. U., didn't know you had so much spirit.

The final arrangement of the Yale-Harvard baseball schedule for next season looks as if the alleged war caused by the remarkable article in the Harvard Graduates' Magazine was over.

The Civic Club met Friday at eight o'clock P.M. at the Tech Union. On account of the smallness of the attendance no business was transacted. Professor Pearson spoke.

By special request Dr. L. W. Munhall of Philadelphia will give his great address on "The Integrity and Authority of the Bible." in Tremont Temple, at 3.30 P.M. Sunday, Dec. 10, 1905.

AT THE THEATRES.

Tremont Theatre.

Mrs. Fiske and the Manhattan Company in "Leah Kleschna" have begun at the Tremont Theatre, what promises to be the most brilliant of the many engagements Mrs. Fiske has played there. "Leah Kleschna" appeals to every class of theatregoer. The acting has received even higher praise than the play. Mrs. Fiske's acting in the title role rivals her Tess and Becky Sharp. She gives a superb character study, that calls into play all the subtlety and emotional power that makes her art so great. The Manhattan Company, directed by Mrs. Fiske, is unquestionably the best dramatic organization that Bostion has seen in this generation. Not a role but what is admirably played; the artistic finish of the entire performance is unapproached.

Castle Square Theatre.

Pleasant memories of "Lady Windermere's Fan" survive among those playgoers who saw this notable comedy by Oscar Wilde upon its original production in Boston a dozen years ago. Its revival at the Castle Square next week will be notable, for although Oscar Wilde's work stands forth brilliantly among the best of modern English plays, it is rarely presented either by stock or travelling companies. "Lady Windermere's Fan" will be staged at the Castle Square under the direction of William C. Masson, and the cast of characters will include John Craig, Lillian Kemble, and all the other leading members of the stock company. It will be followed during the week of December 18 by a special revival of Goldsmith's "She Stoops to Conquer."

SOPHOMORES MEET.

At a meeting of the Sophomores held Friday noon L. G. Blodgett '06, spoke to the class about the proposed chapter of Sigma Xi at Technology. He pointed out the nature of society, its aims and objects, and the said that an expression of approval from the student body would be appreciated by the Faculty. Thereupon the class voted to endorse the proposal.

F. H. McGuigan said that the straight-stemmed pipes had come, but that those with curved stems were not yet ready for delivery.

H. W. Hoole urged as many men as possible to come out for the Annual Indoor Meet and B. A. A. Games, in order that there might be plenty of men to choose from.
